

NEW BOOK IS A BOOST FOR BARNARDO'S

Don't you wish you'd written down some of the funny things you've heard kids say?

Well someone has - and they've put them all in a book to help raise cash for Barnardo's.

"Things Kids Say" is out now (£5.99) and half of the cover price goes straight to the well-known children's charity.

This hilariously funny book was launched by actress and TV celebrity Lynda Bellingham at a Barnardo's centre, and it includes 130 pages of comical real things that have been said by real kids - along with illustrations.

"The book proves that kids are by far the best comedians. All the submissions have been provided by people from all over the UK and all the 13 artists gave their services free," said Peter Quinn, managing director of United Press, which has launched the book.

"To cut out the middle-man and make sure that as much of the revenue as possible goes to Barnardo's, we aren't selling the book in shops. You must order it direct."

For your copy, send £5.99 (plus £1.99 postage & packing) made out to 'United Press' to United Press, Admail 3735, London, EC1B 1JB. £3 from every copy sold goes direct to Barnardo's. Postage is free if you order two or more copies.

To order by debit/credit card phone 0844 800 9177.

“The moon is more use than the sun, for it gives us light at night when it’s dark.”

When a teacher asked a youngster, “Where is the English Channel?” The answer was, “I don’t know. My TV doesn’t pick it up.”

TEACHER: Give me three reasons why the world is round.
OLIVER: My dad says so, my mum says so and you say so.
